

DEC AIRO MARI S. AUSAN

Lecturer

Acknowledge Education

1. Academic Leadership

- Serves as Lecturer and Trainer in higher education institutions in Australia, including Acknowledge Education and Southern Cross Education Institute.
- Provides oversight in curriculum delivery, student placement supervision, and training programs in community services and education.
- Actively contributes to academic mission through teaching, mentoring, and curriculum development.

2. Specialized Expertise

- Holds a Master of International Community Development and a Diploma in Community Services, complemented by maritime and occupational health qualifications.
- Expertise spans education and training, community development, aged-care services, maritime welfare, and seafarer well-being.
- Combines theoretical knowledge with applied practice in social services and professional training.

3. International Representation

- Actively participates in academic and professional conferences, delivering lectures and workshops in Australia and engaging with diverse student cohorts.
- Represents community service and maritime welfare perspectives in international education contexts.
- Contributes to global discourse on community development and resilience through teaching, research, and professional practice.

4. Research Productivity

- Conducts research and publishes works on community development, aged-care services, and maritime studies.
- Engages in writing journal articles, proposals, and books, integrating applied social science with educational practice.
- Research interests include seafarer well-being, community services, and social support systems.
- Demonstrates consistent productivity by linking academic inquiry with practical solutions for community and maritime sectors.

5. Editorial & Peer Review Expertise

- Provides scholarly contributions through curriculum development, assessment design, and evaluation of student learning programs.

- Participates in peer review of academic outputs and contributes to institutional research culture.
- Ensures academic rigor by aligning teaching materials with professional standards and ethical practices.
- His editorial and review experience strengthens the credibility of educational programs and supports quality assurance in higher education.

6. Engagement in Policy & Practice

- Actively involved in community outreach and service coordination, particularly in aged-care and disability support.
- Implements policies and programs that enhance social support options for vulnerable populations.
- Engages with stakeholders, service providers, and funding bodies to promote inclusive and sustainable community development.
- His applied expertise bridges academic research with practical interventions in education, welfare, and maritime sectors.